Physics Day at Lagoon

The 12th annual Utah State University Physics Day at Lagoon was held on May 19. This marked the 3rd year of cooperation by organizers from Idaho National Engineering and Environmental Lab and the USU Physics Department in running this event. There were approximately 4,500 students and 125 teachers who attended from 70 schools in 4 states including Utah, Idaho, Nevada and Wyoming. Volunteer help included 60 faculty, staff and students from the USU Physics Department, 8 INEEL staff, and 25 others from sponsoring agencies. These individuals were on hand to assist with the registration, organization and contest judging. An estimated $37,000 in prizes were awarded. Sponsors of this event included Boeing, Hansen Planetarium, Lagoon, Thiokol, US Navy, USU College of Science, USU High School Relations, plus the Idaho and Rocky Mountain Space Grant Consortiums.
